DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-9 and 24-26, drawn to a recombinant fusion polypeptide or pair of recombinant fusion polypeptides, classified in class 530, subclass 350.
- II. Claims 10-23 and 27, drawn to a polynucleotide encoding a recombinant fusion polypeptide, a vector and host cell comprising the polynucleotide and a method of using said host cell comprising the polynucleotide, classified in class 435, subclass 71.1.
- III. Claims 28 and 29, drawn to a method of labeling a cell with a fluorescent recombinant fusion polypeptide, classified in class 435, subclass 29.
- IV. Claims 30-36, drawn to a method of monitoring the interaction of two polypeptides of interest, classified in class 435, subclass 29.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

The nucleic acids of Invention II are related to the protein of Invention I by virtue of encoding the same. The DNA molecule has utility for the recombinant production of the protein in host cells. Although the DNA molecule and protein are related since the DNA encodes the specifically claimed protein, they are distinct inventions because they are physically and functionally distinct chemical entities, and the protein product can be made by another and materially different process, such as by synthetic peptide synthesis or purification from the natural source. Further, the DNA may be used for processes other than the production of the protein, such as nucleic acid hybridization assay.

Inventions III and IV are distinct methods. Inventions are distinct if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different methods are not disclosed as capable of use together in a single process and have different modes of operation and effects as the method of monitoring the interaction of two polypeptides would clearly comprise method steps, such as the introduction of first and second polypeptides labeled with fluorescence donor and acceptor molecules, which are not required in the method of labeling a cell.

Each of Groups I and II are related to the methods of Inventions III and IV as product and process of using. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the products can as claimed can be used in each of the materially different processes of Groups III and IV.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
